

IN THE SPECIFICATION

Replace the first paragraph under Summary of the Invention, which is paragraph page 2, line 28 through page 3, line 2, with the following:

A ~~frameless~~, portable, layout hunting blind for use by a sitting or reclining hunter has a frameless floor, (i.e., the floor lacks a frame) an enclosed foot and leg sack for the hunter's legs, a movable flap to cover the hunter's upper body, a collapsible foot sack support to keep the foot sack clear of the hunter's legs, and an air-inflatable head and shoulder rest.

Replace the second paragraph under Summary of the Invention, located at paragraph page 3, lines 3-5 with the following:

A principle object and advantage of the present invention is that there is no rigid frame supporting the floor side walls and top of the blind. There are thus no metal bars to bend, break, or create discomfort.

Replace the third paragraph under Summary of the Invention, located at paragraph page 3, lines 6-8 with the following:

Another principle object and advantage of the present invention is that because [[it]] the floor is frameless and flexible, it can be used on flat or rough ground and easily rolls up rather than folds or otherwise breaks down.

Add a new paragraph under Detailed Description Of The Preferred Embodiment. The new paragraph below should be added after the paragraph located at page 4, lines 13-16 with the following:

In FIG. 5, the phantom lines of the foot sack support 20 show the foot sack support in the down position, lying on the floor, and in the up position that keeps the foot sack opening clear for the hunter's feet.
